

► Claims Adjudication Processing

Are you faced with the constant struggle of claims management? Data Dimensions is a leader in providing claims adjudication processing. Our knowledgeable adjudicators have the ability to quickly and efficiently respond to your needs and address discrepancies promptly. By providing expert staff, you can rely on Data Dimensions to reduce your risk and abuse, fight fraud, contain costs, and increase productivity. This allows your employees to focus on core competencies.

Data Dimensions' team of adjudicators are highly-trained through a comprehensive, technical training program. In addition to procedures, techniques, and judicial requirements training, our adjudicators receive training on various adjudication platforms. On-going training allows for our professional staff to remain reliable in the ever-changing challenges of claims adjudication.

Data Dimensions understands each client has unique requirements. Allowing for flexibility, our Project Managers create a detailed project plan, verify requirements, and determine the critical success factors required to satisfy your requirements with you. In addition, a comprehensive communication plan is developed together to define clear communication channels. Client specific-training is conducted in collaboration with our Project Managers and our operations begin with full-supervision with 100% auditing until the team-in-training becomes proficient, earning client certification.
